

2-6312

25 February 1952

Dear Bill,

When you resigned in 1951 as Deputy Director of Central Intelligence, you agreed to serve for, at least, a year as a consultant to the Central Intelligence Agency. Having made the first serious study by an American of the British Intelligence system, having worked on the organization of the original Central Intelligence Group and served on its advisory committee, having helped to draft the Act establishing the Central Intelligence Agency in 1947, and been a member of the Dulles Committee which surveyed its activities in 1948, you are specially qualified by experience to assist as a consultant in the continued development of CIA.

I am informed that, at present, you are giving about one week of each month to this work. It is not expected that you can continue to devote this much time to CIA and hold down a full time job as managing partner of J. H. Whitney and Company. I do hope and expect that you can henceforth set aside three or four days of each month to CIA. This, I know, will require a drastic curtailment of your hospital and other welfare activities in New York City and in New Jersey. It is, nevertheless, so clearly in the public interest for you to devote your spare time to the field you know best in a most critical period of intelligence operations and development, that I am confident the hospital and other welfare boards on which you serve will permit you to resign or grant you leave of absence. I certainly urge them to do so. I realize that this may appear a bit selfish, but it is selfishness in the interest of the United States, and this needs no apology.

Faithfully,

/s/ Bevell Smith

Mr. William H. Jackson
J. H. Whitney and Company
630 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York

DOCUMENT NO. _____
NO CHANGE IN CLASS. ☒ ☐ DECLASSIFIED
CLASS. CHANGED BY: TS 5 D
NEXT REVIEW DATE: _____
AUTH: ED 100
DATE: 5/3/81 REVIEWER: 064540

WHJ/WBS--lec

Approved For Release 2002/03/22 : CIA-RDP80R01731R000500470010-9

2 cc--signer(reading & official)

1 cc--Administrative Files

Draft of sub-are proposed Letter from Gen Smith to W.H.J.

Dear Bill:

When you resigned ^{in 1951} as Deputy Director of Central Intelligence, you agreed to serve for at least a year ~~or so~~ as a consultant to the Central Intelligence Agency. Having made the first serious study by an American of the British Intelligence System, having worked on the organization of the original Central Intelligence Group and served on its advisory committee, ~~and~~ having helped to draft the act establishing the Central Intelligence Agency in 1949 and ~~to~~ been a member of the Dulles Committee which carried out its activities in 1948, you are specially qualified by experience to assist as a Consultant in the continued development of CIA.

I am informed that, at present, you are giving about one week of each month to this work. It is not expected that you can continue to devote this much time to CIA and hold down a full time job as managing partner of J. H. Whitney & Co. I do hope and expect that you can henceforth spare one or two days of each month to CIA. This, I know, will require a drastic curtailment of your hospital and other welfare activities in New York City, and in New Jersey. I am, nevertheless, so clearly in the public interest for you to ~~do~~ spare spare time to the job you know best is a most critical period of intelligence operations and development, that I am confident the hospital and other welfare boards or which you serve will permit me to resign or grant you leave of absence. I certainly urge them to do so. I realize that this may appear a bit selfish, but it is self-interest in the interest of the United States, and this needs no apology.

Faithfully,